THE HONGKONG OBSERVATORY.

OBSERVATIONS DURING 1913.

The Director of the Royal Observatory, Mr. T. F. Chatton, in his report to the Logislative Council upon the work of his department during last year, makes the following observations upon the principal features of the weather:

The principal feature of the weather in the year 1913 was the irregular distribution of rainfalls. The full was 4 inches above normal in March, 21 inches above in July and 5 inches in September. and was 3 inches below normal in April, 21 inches below in May, 4 inches in Auguest, and 11 inches in October: The total rainfall for the year, was, 83,73 inches, or 0.56 inch above normal.

A drought occurred from October 12 to December 8, broken only by a fall of 0.03 inch derain on November 8 and 0.71 inch on November 13 to 15. This would have caused a shortage in the water supply had it not been for the rein which fell in the typhoon of September 17 to 20.

Pressure was mederately above normal in Fanuary, October, November and Deermber, and moderately below normal in April 2011

Temperature was 2.1deg. above normod in February and 1.9deg. below normal in December. In the remaining months the departure from normal did met expect I deg. 0: The mean temperature for the year was 71.9deg. or 0.2deg. above norms. The highest temperature was 92 deg. 0 on July 20 and August 16, as against 91.3deg. in 1912 and 107 deg. 0 for the past 30 years. The lowest temperature was 44 deg. 0 on January 26 as against 45.3deg. in 1912, and 32 deg. 0 for the past 30 years.

According to the records of the Beck-Icy Anemographs the wind velocity was below normal in each month of the year, but there is evidence to show that the instrument is more sluggish than formorely, the mean velocity for the period 1884 to 1900 being 13,21 m.p.h., and for the period 1901 to 1918 only 12.41 m.p.h. This represents a defect of 92,000 miles of wind in the last 13 years.

A comparative table giving the minfall at the Observatory the Police Station. William, and the Betanical Gardens, Hongkeans, shows that at the former station 88,730 in, was recorded in the year, at Taipp 96.34 in. and at the Botanical Gardene 92.42 in.

A typhcon passed within 50 miles to the south of the Observatory at about 11 mm. on August 17, when the barometer fell to 29.816 inches, and the wind strained a mean velocity of 88 m.p.h., as recorded by the Beckley Anemograph. A squall at the rate of 105 m.p.h. was remarked by the Dines Anemography of 11h 36m a.m. This storm was travelling at the rate of 24 miles per hour when passing Hougkong. A second typhoon passed within 100 miles to the north of the Observatory in the early morning of September 19, the barometer falling to 20,270 inches at 1 a.m. The maximum wind velocity for one hour, as recorded by the Beckley Anemograph was 56 miles at 1h a.m., and the maximuin squall velocity, as recorded by the Dince Anemograph, 70 miles at 1h 15m n.m. 4 inches of cain fell in the first typhon and 6 inches in the second. Owing to their short duration, comparatively little darnage was done by cither stram, though in the second a certain aniquet of unlooked-for damage was engsed on account of its unusual track. and the consequent strong winds from westward instead of from eastward The tracks of 14 typhoons and 8 of the principal depressions which occurre in the Far East, in the year 1918, were

AMERICA POLO CUP. ENGLAND'S TEAM ARRANGED.

The transfer of the state of the Captain Cheape to Play.

(By Pedonius in the "Daily Telegraph.").

The seute tension of the last week in polo circles is post. Captain Cheape has responded to the appeal of "The Daily Telegraph" by displaying the true British spirit. By sinking his convenience and partiality, and agreeing to come to the help of Lord Wimborne in the latter's straits, Captain Cheape has justified the opinion I expressed of him yesterday.

Even with this fine player's enlistment the team cannot be called representative 465 of England except in one respect, that of the Englishman's sportamentike readiness to take a flicking. It will be in the highest degree satisfactory to us if our American cousins will show their practical approciation of British grit in embarking upon an attempt which their to a man who effaces personal considerations, perhaps projudices, when his coun-Press is ununimous in considering foretry needs him. doomed to failure, but from which, none the luss, they will benefit substantially. One is bound to admit that the offer of a dortnight's postponement of

On the other hand, the opinions of Americans on this side are accumulating in favour of a division of the receipts. Mr. H. P. Whitney, who, indeed, ought to be better infermed, appears to sup-Pall-up Capital ......£2,437,500 pose that the expense of sending the team and ponies to Spain and to America has been borne by Hurlingham, instead of being defrayed by an individual whe in sporting enterprise and generosity his own counterpart. It is to obviate the issue of a challenge having to depend on such chance liberality that I have 262,692 suggested a reciprocal arrangement by 490,198 which the losers and not only the winners, shall benefit. Further, why it should be "commercial" to accept 25 per cent of the takings while to keep 100 per cent, apparently is not is out side the scope of the ordinary man's understanding. Mr. Whitney cannot be

To Lord Wimborne, no less than to Captain Cheape, is due high proise for his perseverance in a situation which seemed to contain nothing but difficulty and disappointment. In common with all sporting Englishmen, Lord Wimborne can take licert of grace. It is not always the favourite that wins; and even if the British team should not be successful. there are some defeats which are the equivalent of victories.

Besides "The Daily Telegraph," there is one who has spered no pains to bring about the happy conclusion of the crisis. Cuptain Miller's efforts have been as strendous as they were disinterested; and they formed a fitting introduction to other friendly overtures. The whole opisodo reflects, the best sporting spirit of this country in the case of the inter mediarias, no less than of Captain Cheape

L. had been sufering from dysentory for about three months when I first saw her. She was so feeble that all hope of her recovery had been lost. Seeing her greatly emsciated and enterbled con-dition. I stopped all the medicines which had been prescribed for her and started with Sanatogen. After about a month of the Sanatogen, she easily took food-milk, rice and other light articles of diet. She had only about two or three motions daily, and there was no blood. The offensive odour was also gone. After the was ablo

HOW TO PREVENT DYSENIERY. It must always be remembered as Drs. Castellani and Chalmers point out in their "Manual of Tropical Medicine" that the germs of dysentery can live in the body "without causing the syntoms of the discase until the vitality is lowered by some agency as a chill, an attack of diarrhous, etc., when they are capable of producing

POLITICS.

Politics are in a parlous plight, and so are the time though they have managed to sings will make its way to the Tressury in escape the st p division peril so far. Gun. running in Ulater has made them look rather ridiculous, though the Opposition has very little cheerfulness about it, ever after that exploit. The Liberals nearly captured Grimsby so they are not in such bad odour with the country. The Budget is a sore subject with the rich, who threated to cut down their charities and their hospitality, thus injuring philanthropy and trade at the same time. Part of that is temper, no doubt, and will blow over.

I understand that very likely the amend. ing measure to the Home Rule Bill will exclude Ulster" so long as Imperial Parliament chooses." This will save Unionists, who are scared at the idea of taking a long holiday at Whitsuntide and polling Ulster couny by country, becarse their secret information is that only t shires would vote for exclusion. Moreover, the bill on its second reading. It will be the great market of Ireland is the rest Ireland. That is way the big firm of Gallagher would not join in Unionist demons- will be no election till at least the middle trations. Evidences accumulate that the of next year, but if there is an accident, real unity of Ireland is in commerce, and the election might come this summer. It Ulster would be badly affected by a boycott Chancellor has purposely minimised his in the rest of the island. Meanwhile the estimates of receipts this next year so as to Ulster unemployed (so'tis said in impartial have a good surplus with which to create circles) are drawing four shillings a day

WEDDING.

Mrs. Gaunt is a famous author and trothrough the little known parts of Mongolia

CHINESE:

It was a Christian wedding between one of the Chinese evangelists and a girl the school attached to the American Preshave never spoken to each other; that would have been a frightful breach of decorum, but as they went to the same church it is possible that they knew such other by sight. The bride came of a poor family and the bridegroom had been paying for her education; and it is on record that he once, with the consent and connivance of the schoolmistres, had written to her exhorting her to deligence, and pointing out how good a thing it was that a woman should be well-read and cultured.

"It was a glorio a winter's day, with golden sunshine for the bride and the air, the keen invigorating air of Northern victims into cheer of lealthy men and China, sparkling with frost. The Church was decorated by devout Chinese Christians, who had worked hard at it weird and nutre. The Chinese, as a $1.50, six for $8/- post free. nation, are highly artistic, but the artistic factilty in one that requires educating. Over the platform was a bank of greenery, very pretty, with flowers dotted all over its and on it Chinese characters in cotton wool "Earth rejoices, Heaven sings," and across that again was a festoon small flags of all nations, while from side of side of the church were slung garlands of gailycoloured paper, the five colou s of the new Republic. When I think of the time and nationce that went to the making of those garlands I was quite sorry they reminded groom marched a little shead, propelled me of fly catchers. But the crowning of volition of his own, and behind him came decuration was the Chinese angel that his wife, thrust forward in the same manhovered over all. This being was clad in white, girt in at the waist, foreign fashion. Great white paper wings were spread out China, the land of ceremonies, there are behind, and from her head, framing the decidedly Mongolian countenance, were flowing golden curls, made by the ingenious decorators of singed cotton wool. "

One o'cleck was fixed for the wedding, and at a quarter to one the church was full. They did not have the rid chair for the bride. The consensus of opinion was against it. "It was given up now by the best people in Peking; they generally had carriages. And, snyhow, it was a ridicu lous expense"; so it was decided that the bride should walk. The bridegroom stood at the church door on the men's side of the church, a tall stalwart Chinaman with his black hair sleek and oiled and cut short after the modern fashion. He was suitably clad in black silk, and beside him stood his special friend, the chief Chinese evangelist, who had himself been married four mouths before. At the organ sat the American doctor's pretty young wife, and as the word was passed, "The bride is coming." she struck up the wedding march, and all the somen's eyes tursed to the women's door, while the men, who would not commit such a breach of decorum as to look stared steadily shead.

But the wedding march had been played over and over again before she did come, resplendent and reiled, after the foreign fashion, in white mosquito netting with pink and blue flowers in her hair and anveil was bent, her eyes were glued to the the airle as if she were on whe is. Up the Tarn and her husband. opposite airle came the bridegroom, also "We shot in the Berar jungles," she same manner by his friend. The recenises now in the competion they bawed again. "They will b wa third time," and once more they bowed low.

and they turned like well-drilled soldiers and howed to the white-haired man who had married them. "They will now bow to the sudience, and they faced the people, and bowed deeply, and everybody in that congregation [17] rose and returned the salutation.

"All the world loves a lover," but in no lovers. This man had gone further than most men in the wooing of his wife, and they were beginning life together with very fair chances of success. One pain who would be spared. As soon as the husband has lifted the veil, and she is left alone with the women of his family, the ordinary Chinese bride has to submit to the painful process of "having her face opened "-that is, the hairs on her forehead plucked out so that the forehead is squared at the corners. But the Christians have given up the practice.

The young couple will not set up home alone. That would be most unseemly. The evangelist has not a mother; but his only sister will take the place of mother-in-law. and the bride will live with h r and her

Neuralgia, Nervous Breakdown—

NURSE HALL, c/o Mrs. Bassett, Commercial Place, Landport, Portsmouth, Eng., writes:-"1 was suffering from nervous breakdown with Internal Neuralgia, when I began a course of Phosferine. After having taken it for three or four month . ..... better than I had done for two years previously, and cons ler it the best tonic I have ever tried. As a remedy for all nervous disorders I think there is nothing to equal Phosferine, especially as I was given up by more than one doctor previous to taking Phosferine, and can now say I am perfectly well and strong, and have taken nothing else.'

No other medicine has received such absolute proof of its extraordinary properties in restoring Shattered Constitutions, and in giving back to the prematurely aged New Life and Energy.

A CHINESE WEDDING

BY MARY CAUNT.

Mira. Gaunt in a famous author and traveller. She has just completed a journey through the little-known parts of Mongolia

It was a Christian wedding between one of the Chinese evangelists and a girl of the school attached to the American Presbyterian Mission. The contracting parties be kept rich and healthy. And to cure have never spoken to each other; that would have been a frightful breach of decrum, but as they went to the same church it is possible that they knew each other by sight. The bride came of a poor family and the bridegroom had been paying for her education; and it is on record that he once, with the consent and connivence of the schoolmistress, had written to her exhorting her to deligence, and pointing out how good a thing it was that a woman should be well-read and cultured. It was a glorio a winter's day, with golden sunshine for the bride and the China, sparkling with frost. The Church women. was decorated by devout Chinese Chris tians, who had worked hard at it with results that to Western eyes were a little Szechuen Road, Shanghai, one bottle for weird and outre. The Chinese. as a $1.50, six for $8/- post free. nation, are highly artistic, but the artistic faculty is one that requires educating. Over the platform was a bank of greenery. very pretty, with flowers dotted all over itand on it Chinese characters in cotion wool "Earth rejoices, Heaven sings," and across that again was a festoon small flaga of all nations, while from side of side of the church were slung garlands of gailycoloured paper, the five colou s of the new Republic. When I think of the time and patience that went to the making of those in accord with Chinese ideas. The brid me of fly-catchers. But the crowning of volition of his own, and behind him cam decoration was the Chinese angel that his wife, thrust forward in the same may hovered over all. This being was clad in white, girt in at the waist, foreign fashion. Great white/paper wings were spread out China, the land of ceremonies, there a decidedly Mongolian countenance, were decorators of singed cotton wool.

One o'clock was fixed for the wedding. and at a quarter to one the church was full. against it. "It was given up now by the best people in Peking; they generally had carriages. And, anyhow, it was a ridiculous expense "; so it was decided that the bride should walk. The bridegroom stood at the church door on the men's side of the church, a tall stalwart Chinaman with husband. - Daily News. his black hair sleek and oiled and cut short after the modern fashion. He was suitably clad in black silk, and beside him stood his special friend, the chief Chinese evangelist, who had himself been married four months before. At the organ sat the American doctor's pretty young wife, and as the word was passed, "The bride is coming," she struck up the wedding march, and all the women's eyes turned to the women's door, while the men, who would not commit such a breach of decorum as to look stared steadily shead. · But the wedding march had been played over and over again before she did come, resplendent and veiled, after the foreign fashion, in white mosquito netting with pink and blue flowers in her hair and another bunch in her hand. . The bridegroom veil was bent, hereyes were glued to the the aisle as if she were on whe la. Up the Tarn and her husband. same manner by his friend.

They met, those two who had never met face to face before before the minister; and he performed the short marriage coremony. As he said the closing words, the Chinese Evangelist became Master of Ceremonies. "The bridegroom and bride." said he, " will now how to each other once, in the new style. The bride and groom standing before the minister bowed deeply to each other. "They will how a second time," and they bewed again. "They will b wa third time," and once more they bowed low. "They will now how to the minister," and they turned like well-drilled soldiers and howed to the white-haired man who had married them. rose and returned the salutation.

THE PREVENTION AND CURE OF MALARIA.

Dr. Williams' Tink Pills make the blood rich and red, drive the malazial germs from the system, and transform sgue and fever the keen invigorating air of Northern victims into theer ut lealthy men and the newly-married couple. In was over; and to the strains of th wedding march they left the church, a tually together, by way of the women entrance. But the bride was not on the groom's arm. That would not have been garlands I was quite sorry they reminded groom, marched a little ahead, propelled foward by his friend as if he had no mean nor, still with her eyes on the floor ar every muscle stiff, as if she had been a do " "All the world loves a lover," but behind, and from her head, framing the no lovers. This man had gone further than most men in the wooing of his wife. and they were beginning life together with flowing golden curls, made by the ingenious very fair chances of success. One pair she would be spared. As soon as the husband has lifted the veil, and she is left alone with the women of his family, the ordinary Chinese bride has to submit to the painful process of "having her face They did not have the red chair for the opened "-that is, the hairs on her forehead bride. The consensur of opinion was plucked out so that the forehead is squared at the corners. But the Christians have given up the practice. The young couple will not set up house alone. That would be most unseemly. The evangelist has not a mother; but his only sister will take the place of mother-in-law, and the bride will live with h r and her

"It and they faced the people, and bowed was a rough trip; sometimes we slept on A-4 deeply, and everybody in that congregation the ground in the snow. We were after A.6 deer, wapiti, and bears." Later the speaker went to Canada, where, amongst other animals, a moose and ciribou fell to her B.2 rifie. East Africa is, however, her favourite B.3 hunting ground. A rhinoceros, shot with with a 303 rifle, and an elephant and rhinoceros with a '400, are amongst her Barry

LAST YEAR'S REVENUE

The Colonial Treasurer, in his report to the Legislative Council on the finances of the Colony in 1013, states :--

The total recenue for the year amounted to $8,512,308 being $660,440 in excess of the estimate and $331,615 more than the revenue in 1912. Compared with that year there were increases under every head with the exception of Fees of Court or Office, interest and miscellancous receipts.

The principal sub-heads showing an increase over the estimate are as tollows: Stamp duties, $165,914; Land sides, $42,285; Fines, $81,546; Forteltures, $43,082; Sunday eargo working permits, $38,400; Liquor duties, $29,233; Eent buildings, $23,055; Post Pothes, $30,189. These increases are due generally" to the "following causes: "Douth " duties and trade prosperity, and numerous cases of infraction of law in regard to arms and cocaine, etc., while the remainder of the items may be attributed general increase of business in the

The principals decreases were: Ordinames sales, $4,491, due to delay he publication of new editions, and Queen's College fees, $6.755; due to reduction in "number of scholans.

The total expenditure unounted to $8,058,013, being $143,107 over the estimate, and $1,455,460 here than beeexpenditure in 1912. Compared with the estimates there were decreuses under every head with the exception of Te as-sury. Royal Observatory, miscellaneous services, Police and Prison Departments. Botanienk and Forestry Department, Military expenditure. Public Works reempent. Post Office and classification see vices. The excess, amounting to $206.330c, under miscellaneous services was largely due partly to under-estimate of loss on subsidiary coins and party for a loss incurred in 1912 debited to 1913. There was a large addition to the staff of police and prison department with? some increase of salaries while Military Pexpenditure exceeded the estimate on account of the balance of contribution in respect of the year 1912. ### BEAUTY PROBLEM

On the production of My Lady's Dress at the Royalty Theatre it was asserted that Miss. Gladys: Cooper was the. "most beauti ful woman on the London Stage. As most of the leading actresses now appearing the West and have definite opinions on the question as to who is the most beautifu woman in London, some of them were invited by a S andard ropresentative

"If Miss Ellen Terry were still playing London," said Mise Lilian Braithwaite, who is now the great attraction in Mr. Wa one would have no hositation in mentioning her name at once. Her talent, face, and figure would combine to make her the most beautiful woman in London But there are so many others of the younger generation who in their turn have delighted one that it would be impossible to dis-

MOCTETY AND STAGE.

Miss Ellaline Tarriss selected four, he cause, she explained, also could not further attenuate the long list. "They are," she said. "Miss Gladys Cooper, Miss Maxine Elliott, Miss Rosabelle Clay, and-I say this only because my husband (Mr. Seymout Hicks) here says I must - myself. You may not have heard of Miss Rosabelle Clay as yet, but there are several London managers to my knowledge who are codeavouring to add her to their staff. Off the stage there are also four who stand out from all the rest-Queen Alexandra, Via countess Curzon, Lady Pole-Carew, and Mrs. Guttenburgh. One of my standards of judging beauty in other women, how-over, may be somewhat original, for I consider as beautiful those who are not likely to attract the husbands of other beautifu women: Then, if I were not domesticated, I should not be an attraction to my own husband, so that no we man, in my opinion, is really beautiful until she is domesticated "Of the be utiful women from abroad now playing in London, I think the most attractive is Miss Ethel Levey -- she is decidedly charming and a genius. Good-bye. One moment-yes. I think I will tell you who is the most besutiful woman in London-she is the wife of the man whom my husband has induced to take the most shares in his syndicate. Now you know

Miss Violet Van rugh said "I admireso many, and each for their own particular style, that I cannot give a preference to any. The most attractive woman on the

If we take the brunette type, I think Miss Maxine Elliotte I like the English type of beauty very muchthere is a freshness about it - but I think the American type is the best. BEAUTY PROBLEM

On the production of Myll Lady & Dress at the Royalty Theatre it was asserted that Miss Gladys Cooper was the "most beautiful woman on the London Stage. As most of the leading actresses now appearing in the West and have delinite opinions on the equestion as to who is the most beautiful woman in London, some of them were

"If Mine Ellen Perry were still playing in London," said Mise Lilian Brait wafe, who is now the great attraction in Mr. Wu, generation who in their turn have delighted one that it would be impossible to discriminate."

SOCIETY AND STAGE.

Miss Elluline Terrine selected four, he cause, she explained she could not further attenuate the long list. "They are," abe raid, "Miss Gladys Cooper, Miss Maxine Elliott, Miss Rossbelle, Clay, and—I way this only because my husband (Mr. Soymour Hicks) here says I must--myself. You may not have heard of Miss Rosabelle Clay as yet, but there are several London managers to my knowledge who are endenvouring to add her to their staff. Of the stage there are also four who stand out from all the rest-Queen Alexandra, Vis countees Curzon, Lady Pole-Carew, and Mrs. Guttenburgh. One of my standards of judging beauty in other women, however, may be somewhat original, for I consider as beautiful those who are not likely to attract the husbands of other beautiful women. Then, if I were not domesticated I should not be an attraction to my own husband, so that no woman, in my opinion, is really beautiful until she is domesticated. Of the beautiful women from abroad now playing in London, I think the most attractive is Miss Ethel Levey -- she is decidedly charming and a genius. Good-bye, One moment-yes. I think I will tell you who is the most beautiful woman in London-she is the wife of the man whom my husband has induced to take the most shares in his syndicate. Now you know

Good bye. Miss Violet Vanhrugh mid ** I admire so many, and each for their own particular style, that I cannot give a preference to any. The most attractive woman on the stage I ever met is Miss Ellen Terry."

Miss Shirley Kellogg took a similar view: "Unbesitatingly Miss Ellen Terry," she said," but Miss frene Vanbrugh is also very beautif .l. and her acting is so fine. Beauty, after, all, is Nature—a reflection of the inmost soul. Even so-called 'homely' people are beautiful if .they show character in their faces."

THE EXCLISH TYPE. Miss Ethel Levey, the American actres, who is the star at the Hippodrome, was nignly delignized at the question. ... It depends upon the type," said she. " As to the blonds type, I should my Miss Gladys Cooper. She is as boautiful a woman as I have yet seen. If we take the brunstle type, I think Miss Maxine Elliotts I like the English type of beauty very muchthere is a freshpess about it-but I think the American type is the best. I prefer the brunette type—I am a brunette, you see—to the blonds. I don't admire the French women much. They have some beauties, it is true, but very few would look charming in a simple print dress. also think Viscountess Curron is the most beautiful society woman in Condon; she is perfect, like Dresden China." Miss Sari Petrass, the Austrian sotress who, during her two years in London, ha attracted general attention by her beauty and art, and is now appearing in "The Marriage Market," at Da y'a, declared that Miss Gledys Cooper "is the multi-behutifu woman I have ever met. And you have some very beautiful women in London. have seen some of them, but, I am afraid very few, as I am always playing here. like the English type of beauty very much indeed, though, I must tell you, there are some who don't."

MISS COOPER'S VIEW. Miss Gladys Cooper, when told of what was quiet, Ward playing better, and Applin | said, " to hear what some of the actists w ree, then they have done on provious have said. It proves how very nice and 158-110. Ward lost some of his lead but contradicts an impression which some finally won by 22 points. # BACK, HANDS AND

Full of Water: Painful and Sore. Could Not Be Dressed Sometimes for Days. Used Cuticura Scap and Ointment. Completely Well.

11. Station Rd., Portslade-by-Sea, Eng.-"For eight years or more I was troubled with oczema. My back, hands and facu came out in a mass of small red spots full of water, which was very painful and sore. I could not be dressed sometimes for days together. I tried all sorts of soap, alsohad an olntment made up. by but none did me any good. A I was about the same, very writched and mismable. All I spent was in valuentli I bought a box of Cuticura Ointmost and a cake of Cuticura Sosp. After I had used them I got. much relief; and found the raw places getting soothed, besied and dried, and the inflammation going a lot. So I kept on with both Onticus Soap and Ointment, and soon got completely well. I am clear as a bell to-day. "My sheer has been a dreadful sufferer I have seen her raw on body, hands and Ointment and Cuticura Scap. Now she would not be without Circleurs Soup and Cuticura Ointment as they have completely cured her." (Simed) Mrs. Rossana Parfrey, Mar. 7, 1912.

Cutleura Scap and Ointment sold throughout the world. A sample of each with 82-p. book free from nearest depot: F. Newbery & Sons, 27, Charterbouse Sq., London; B. Towns & Co., Sydney, N. S. W., Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston, U. S. A. Fe Tender-faced men should shave with Outleura Soap Shaving Stick. Sample free.
